The Senior Class of

PROSPECT HIGH SCHOOL

Monroe, North Carolina

1954

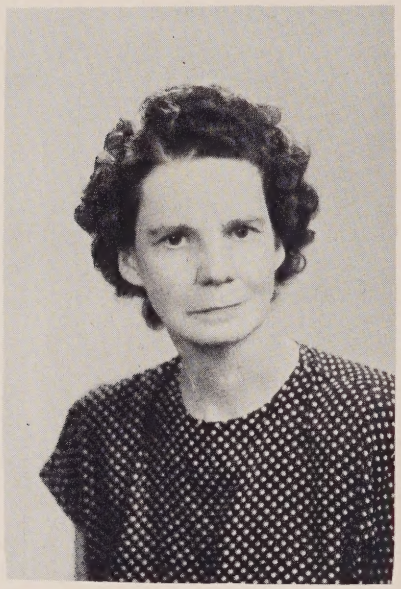
As we, the Senior Class of 1954, begin our long trudge down the road of life, we treasure the memories of our school life and realize that they will become even more priceless to us through the years. Perhaps through the pages of this volume of The Tatler, we can portray to others, and can keep for ourselves, some of the cherished memories. We present it, not as a literary product, but simply as a picture of happy days at Prospect High School.

It is our wish that the joy received from this book in later years will repay us for our efforts toward making it a success.

Dedication

Because of your kindness, patience, understanding, your willingness to help us in our activities, we, the senior class, dedicate this, the seventh volume of THE TATLER, to you, Miss Margaret Smith.

In Memoriam



We, the Senior Class of Prospect High School, wish to pay this tribute of love and respect to the memory of our devoted teacher, Mrs. Florence B. Fincher, who passed away July 20, 1953.

Although a native of Atlanta, Georgia, her teaching profession brought her to Union County where she was a very enthusiastic teacher in Prospect School for many years.

We, the Senior Class, place this page of Volume VII of The Tatler in memory of one of our devoted teachers, Mrs. Florence B. Fincher.

Class History

In 1949, forty-five anxious students entered the eighth grade under the leadership of Mrs. C. C. Fincher. Many of this group came from Alton. So much of our time this year was spent in getting acquainted with our new classmates. The highlight of this year was our trip to Raleigh.

After that year, we became high school students and began looking forward to our senior year and graduation.

Our Freshman year was a very exciting one for us. Everything was new and different. Our home room teacher was Mr. Hurly Mills. Much of our time was spent in getting accustomed to the fundamentals of high school.

When our second year of high school rolled around, we found things much easier. We had become familiar with the customs of high school now, and everything was the same with the exception of our now being proud Sophomores.

Our Junior year proved to be all that we had dreamed it would be. Our homeroom teacher this year was Miss Margaret Smith. The first exciting thing was selecting our class rings. Next came our Junior Play, "Aunt Cathy's Cat," we worked very hard to present. Another event of importance was the banquet which we gave the seniors. It was held in the School Cafeteria, with decorations and menu suggestive of a 'Hawaiian Cruise."

We began our final year with Mr. J. N. Scott as our principal and Miss Margaret Smith, our sponsor. Of the original class there are only 25 left. The class officers are: Faye Mangum, President; Ted Starnes, Vice President; Joyce Rape, Secretary; Mary Edith Starnes, Treasurer.

This year we have strived to complete the seventh volume of our annual, "The Tatler," under the guidance of Mrs. Ray Singleton. The Senior Play was entitled "Hillbilly Weddin'." After a lot of discussion, we decided on our class colors as Royal Blue and White, and our Class Flower as Gladioli. Our mascots are Wanda Funderburk and Shannon McManus.

From the very beginning of the year, our trip to Washington, D.C. has been in all our minds. We have done a lot of planning and have worked hard to make this trip possible.

As our final year draws to a close, we realize the duties that lie before us, and we will go forth into the world with this in mind, "Let what there is to be, be!"

Class Prophecy

"AMAZING DISCOVERIES MADE IN EXCAVATION OF BURIED CITY!!!" This was the report that spread like fire throughout the city on the morning of May 31, 3000.

With one accord the whole populace dropped its activities and flocked to the scene where, before their wondering eyes, a long dead town began to reveal its secrets under the picks and shovels.

"What's the name of the town?" someone called, and without delay a second voice called back, "Monroe!"

True enough! So it turned out to be Monroe, a small town that had flourished a thousand years before and then had disappeared with the passing of time, until, like Rome, it was buried by centuries of debris, had come into its own once more. Suddenly a loud shout arose above the excited buzz of voices.

"What is it? What is it?" everyone wanted to know. "We've found a picture of the mayor," one of the diggers answered breathlessly. "Here he is! Take a look!"

"Oh, what a handsome man!" several of the ladies sighed.

"What was his name?" one gazer wished to know. They turned the picture over and there on the back they found the answer to this latest question. In large black letters they beheld the mayor's name: Norman Rape. (He always was the dignified one.) But scarcely had they had time to repeat the words before another loud shout arose. More amazing discoveries had been made.

"A phonograph record had been found. Someone read the faded label, "Alone," sung by the famous crooner Randall Morris. (Who would have ever believed it?)

The men kept digging and suddenly they uncovered a small museum. The first thing they saw was a statue of a sheriff. The plaque on the front of it read, "the bring-em-back-alive sheriff, Bob Belk."

On a shelf someone found a great Love Story written by O'Neil Starnes. (That's all he ever thought about in school.)

A great commotion began at one end of the old building. A box full of pictures had been found. The first picture was of a great lady, Joyce Rape, wife of a U. S. President. (My goodness! who would have guessed that sweet, quiet Joyce ever ruled the White House?)

Another was of the Manager of the New York Yankees. The name on the back of this picture was Elwin Melton. (We never knew Elwin was athletically inclined!)

One picture brought ayes and ohs from the men. It was none other than the Miss America of 1958, Miss Shirley Rape. (She always wanted an easy life.)

Another photograph revealed the ten best dressed women of the world. Who should be in the center but Donnie Smith? (Well! Why not? Her husband only ran the biggest Mink farm in the South.)

The very last picture in the box was that famous advisor on Marriage Problems, Melvie Griffin Laney. (She had her husband trained.)

In another corner was found a dusty old newspaper edited by Colin Hinson. (I can still hear him pounding those keys in typing class.)

The headlines read as follows: Ted Starnes, President of Ford Motor Co. Divorces his Fifth Wife. (He was forever swapping.)

In the first column was a picture of the newly elected U. S. Secretary of War, Bertha Jean Yarbrough. (Anything to be near a certain Pvt., I guess.)

Reading farther on down the page reveals an announcement: "Free rides for everyone on the Queen City Bus Lines." It's the Owner's Birthday, Lucille Walters. (Look what driving a school bus did for her!)

The second page is completely covered with political news. Joe Rorie runs against Curtis Montgomery for Governorship of North Carolina. (Look out, North Carolina.)

"What's this paragraph at the bottom of the next page?" Betty Melton and Carolyn Moser, successful fashion designers for Vogue of New York, design a new bathing suit--all mink! (Together they could design anything.)

All the sports page is devoted to Hazel Floyd, the new world swimming, champion, after swimming the Atlantic Ocean. (She probably missed the boat.)

A great chemical had been discovered by two great scientists, Vann Parker and Ted Eubanks. It turns rabbit fur into mink. (Anything could happen when they got started.)

The entertainment for that week was the great comedy team, Myrtis Blackburn, Wynona Courtney, with Claudia McGuirt as their straight man. (They finally got paid for telling jokes.)

The obituary column reads: Mary Edith Starnes, Justice of the Supreme Court for the last fifty years, succumbs at her Florida Estate at the ripe old age of 99, leaving an estate of countless millions to her good friend, Faye Mangum, The U. S. Ambassador to Alaska.

After the last page was read, the newspaper was dropped among the ruins of the buried city, to lie another thousand years.

Last Will And Testament

We, the Senior Class of 1954, being of sound and disposing mind, do hereby make and publish this our Last Will and Testament.

To the Junior Class, we leave our many unused Senior privileges and all the hard tasks we have had in hopes they will enjoy their Senior year as much as we did.

To Mr. Scott and the Faculty, we wish to express thanks for the patience and deep interest they have shown in us during our four years of high school.

Personal Items

Bobby Belk wills to Philip Somers his good times when he plays hookey to go fishing. Myrtis Blackburn and Wynona Courtney leave their big mouths to Sylvia Richardson, hoping she will use them better than they did. Curtis Montgomery wills his ability to sweet talk his teachers into passing him to Hallman McCray. Claudia McGuirt wills to Martha Rape and Jean Carol Starnes her freckles because she wants to get rid of them. Joe Rorie wills his 88 Oldsmobile, which he hopes to get working at the A & P, to Layne Griffin. Betty Melton and Carolyn Moser will their popularity at school to Litha Ann Starnes. Lucille Walters leaves her ability to drive Bus 109 to Lanelle Walters. Colin Hinson leaves his friendly ways with the girls to Claude Starnes. Shirley Rape leaves her sportsmanship to Geraldine Starnes. Bertha Jean Yarbrough and Faye Mangum will to Marlene Starnes their ability to get a man and keep him. O'Neil Starnes wills his happy-go-lucky ways to Clarence Starnes. Donnie Smith wills to Norma Whitley the privilege of keeping the library, in hopes Norma won't have as much trouble with the ninth grade as she did. Elwin Melton wills to his brother, Herbert Melton, his quiet ways. Ted Starnes wills his Ford to Milton Rape, if he doesn't decide to trade again. Hazel Floyd leaves her ability to play basketball to Doris Crook, hoping she has as much fun as she did. Joyce Rape wills her good grades to Shirley Rollins. Mary Edith Starnes wills to Wanda Hunter and Joyce Lathan the privilege of walking to school every day. Randall Morris and Norman Rape will their good times to Billy Ray Stuckey. Melvie Laney wills to Virginia Rollins the ability to come to school when she gets married. Vann Parker and Ted Eubanks will all the predicaments they get into with the ninth grade girls to the junior boys.

In witness whereof, we set our seal, the twenty-fourth day of May in the year of our Lord, one thousand nine hundred and fifty-four.
